

Bankers Life Insurance Company (“BLIC”) 2023 Partial Withdrawal FAQs

What is this partial withdrawal program?

- The Rehabilitator has determined, in working with its accountants and advisers, that BLIC now has sufficient liquidity to provide a 25% partial withdrawal of annuity funds, less applicable tax withholding, fees and surrender charges, as an exception to the moratorium.

Who is Kroll and how did they get involved?

- The Rehabilitator has hired Kroll to assist with distribution of partial withdrawal payments. Kroll is a third-party administrator with experience in processing large volumes of payments.

Where is my Unique ID for www.NCRehabWithdrawal.com?

- Your Unique ID is on your partial withdrawal letter, towards the bottom in bold. If you have not received a letter yet, you will need to wait for the letter in order to receive your Unique ID.

Why will I only receive 25% of the value of my annuity/When will I receive the remainder of my annuity?

- This was the maximum amount approved by the Court for BLIC.
- On December 30, 2022, the judge signed an Order of Liquidation that will place BLIC into liquidation when the Order becomes effective. Greg Lindberg’s company, GBIG Holdings, LLC, filed a Notice of Appeal of the Order of Liquidation on January 27, 2023. The appeal delays triggering the state life and health insurance guaranty associations and delays payments to policyholders. Until the Order of Liquidation becomes effective, BLIC remains in rehabilitation.
- Once the Order of Liquidation becomes effective, state life and health insurance guaranty associations would provide coverage subject to the terms of applicable statutes and the insurance policies and contracts, which benefits could include loans, surrenders, and death benefits, depending on the circumstances. This process could be greatly expedited if Mr. Lindberg drops his appeal of BLIC being placed into liquidation.
- This partial withdrawal is not a final distribution of your annuity contract. The remainder of your annuity contract is still subject to the moratorium on surrenders, loans, withdrawals, and transfers.
- Until the Order of Liquidation becomes effective, the Rehabilitator will continue paying qualified hardship payments in addition to other exceptions to the moratorium.

Does this mean the moratorium has been lifted (removed)?

- No, the partial withdrawal was granted by the Court as an exception to the moratorium, after petition by the Rehabilitator. It does not mean that the moratorium has been lifted.

How soon do I have to make an election?

- You must make all of your elections by November 30, 2023.
- There will be default withholding of 10% from your distribution payment for Federal income taxes. Applicable default withholding may be higher for Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs) under certain circumstances. If you wish to change the withholding for Federal income taxes, you must make that election by November 30, 2023. Please visit the website www.NCRehabWithdrawal.com to make that election.
- If you would like to have the funds disbursed to you through ACH instead of check, you must make that election by November 30, 2023. Please visit the website www.NCRehabWithdrawal.com to make that election.
- If you would like to exchange or transfer the distribution amount to another company, please contact that company as soon as possible for assistance with submitting an exchange or transfer form to BLIC. BLIC must receive the completed form no later than November 30, 2023.

- Some policyholders can ask for a waiver of surrender charges. That will be explained in the letters those policyholders receive and is based on their particular contractual annuity terms. All such elections must be made no later than November 30, 2023.
- If no action is taken by you by November 30, 2023, then all default terms of your contract and the applicable default tax withholding, fees and surrender charges will apply to your partial withdrawal.
- Consult with your tax and financial advisors before making any decision.

How long after I submit my election before I receive my funds?

- For online election submissions, your distribution payment should be processed within about three (3) weeks of your submission. For manual election submissions, your distribution payment should be processed within about six (6) weeks of your submission.

Can I take a withdrawal from my life insurance policy?

- No, this partial withdrawal program is only for annuities and does not apply to cash value in your life insurance policy. If you have any annuity as a life insurance policy rider, your letter reflects the balance of your annuity only.

How does this partial withdrawal impact my other policies at Bankers Life Insurance Company?

- This partial withdrawal program does not impact other insurance policies held at BLIC. You must continue paying your premium on your other policies, as you are billed, to have your life or health insurance continue. Annuity contributions are not being accepted.

How does this partial withdrawal affect the interest-only payments I receive?

- If your account value as of May 31, 2023, is $14,000 or greater, you will still qualify for the interest-only payments. After the 25% partial withdrawal, your interest-only payments will be calculated based on the new, lower account value. Therefore, your interest-only payments will be less than they were previously, and possibly occur less frequently. Your interest-only payments will be distributed when accumulated interest is $100 or greater.
- If your account value as of May 31, 2023, is less than $14,000, you will most likely not qualify for interest-only payments after the partial withdrawal.

Why did I not receive an expected payment?

- For online election submissions, your distribution payment should be processed within about three (3) weeks of your submission. For manual election submissions, your distribution payment should be processed within about six (6) weeks of your submission.
- After the 25% partial withdrawal, your interest-only payments will be calculated based on the new, lower account value. Therefore, your interest-only payments will be less than they were previously, and possibly occur less frequently. Your interest-only payment will be distributed when accumulated interest is $100 or greater. See previous FAQ about the effect of the partial withdrawal on interest-only payments.

How does this partial withdrawal impact required minimum distributions (RMDs) currently being received by the policyholder?

- If you have a qualified annuity and are currently receiving RMDs, or will take a RMD this year, the partial withdrawal will not prevent you from taking an RMD. Please consult your tax and financial advisors before making any decision.

Will this partial withdrawal pay interest first or principal first?

- If you have a non-qualified annuity, the withdrawal will be taken from the interest accumulated first, and any remaining withdrawal would be taken from the principal after that. Please consult your tax and financial advisors before making any decision and with any questions about your cost basis or taxable interest.

What if I need more funds than are currently available through this partial withdrawal program?/How can I pursue an exception to the moratorium?

- Exceptions to the moratorium are for categories of claims or withdrawals. Individual policyholders cannot apply for an individual exception. However, they can apply for a hardship payment as noted below.
- A hardship program is in place to request funds for an immediate economic need. The hardship application and instructions are available on the BLIC website at <https://bankerslifeinsurance.com/>
- Policyholders can also take advantage of established exceptions to the moratorium such as IRA Required Minimum Distributions or Interest-Only payments. See BLIC FAQs at: www.bankerslifeinsurance.com/forms/CBL_BLIC_FAQs_2_13_23.pdf for the established exceptions.

Are taxes withheld from the distribution of my withdrawal?

- Unless you elect otherwise, Federal income taxes may be withheld on your withdrawal at a rate of 10% along with any required state tax withholding. Applicable default withholding may be higher for Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs) under certain circumstances. If you wish to change the withholding for Federal income taxes, you must make that election by November 30. Please visit the website www.NCRehabWithdrawal.com to make that election. Consult with your tax and financial advisors before making any decision.

What surrender charges and/or withdrawal fees will apply?

- Surrender charges and withdrawal fees will apply as outlined in your letter.

My balance is different from what is stated in the letter. Does that mean the amount I am eligible for is different?

- The balance stated in your letter was the account balance as of May 31, 2023. We are aware that your balance may be different today. Your distribution payment amount will be based on the balance as of the day the distribution is processed, less applicable surrender charges and fees and applicable tax withholdings.

How do I amend my submission that I completed online?

- Once an online election has been submitted, it cannot be amended. Please consult your tax and financial advisors before making any decision.

I do not have internet access/do not wish to submit withdrawal elections online

What is a Community Property state and how does that affect my withdrawal?

- In a Community Property state, community property is all property acquired during marriage that is not established to be separate property. Community property is the default characterization of all marital assets. Community property typically includes salary, wages and other compensation for work performed during marriage, the fruits resulting from the labor and skills of each spouse, income derived from community property assets, and separate property that has been changed ("transmuted") into community property. The following states recognize community property: Arizona, California, Idaho, Louisiana, Nevada, New Mexico, Texas, Washington, and Wisconsin.

If you live in a community property state, you must complete a Community Property Attestation form, included with your letter. The Community Property Attestation form is also available at www.NCRehabWithdrawal.com.
